How to Avoid Bug Bites at the Beach

Our Team would like to offer a friendly reminder that you might encounter tiny insects like gnats, sand fleas, and no-see-ums (or biting midges) while in the beach area. While hard to spot, they can cause a bite that might itch for a few hours. Not to worry, these bites won't harm you, but they can be a bit bothersome.

For your convenience, during your beach day you can visit the Towel Stand for insect repellent to help keep these insects at bay before you find your ideal sunny spot.

Enjoy your stay!
